Subject: trials on 10/27/2011

Hi -

Here's an update of my cases scheduled for Thursday, 10/27/2011:

The defense attorney for the Chicopee case has indicated that it will likely be a plea, so I'm not worried about that.

The New Bedford case is still on, and it looks as though it is the oldest case scheduled that day.

The Quincy case is still on.

The Fall River case is still scheduled as well.

So.... I'm thinking that maybe having me on call for all of the cases may be best, and hopefully one, and only one, will actually "go". It would have to be a first call, first serve type of thing, and it may be possible for me to hit more than one of the court houses in the eastern side of the state if needed (one ADA putting me on first (out of order), and one putting me on last), but I would need to know fairly early in the day what is happening. With that said, the earlier I know about what is going on with all of your cases, the easier it will be for me to try to scheduled things accordingly. You can try calling me at the lab (413-545-2607) or on my cell [REDACTED]. Thanks, and I'll will keep you updated if I hear anything new.
